Fine vine, in bloom at 90

This trumpet vine has been growing on Frank Gibson's house in Bethel since 1914, when his family brought it to Maine from Massachusetts. "It's the only one I've ever seen around here," he said. And this season has been particularly good to the vine. "This is the biggest I've ever seen it. It's been right in its glory this year," said Gibson. He thinks the extra spring rain gave it a boost. The vine has been cut back significantly three times over its lifetime, but only twice has it been deliberate. The third time was in 1964, after his father died, and the house was not heated for the season. As a result, the foundation was colder than usual, and the warmth-loving plant suffered.

Keep your eye out: early detection key in battle against invasive milfoil

By ALISON ALOISIO

The ongoing treatments for milfoil infestations in two Woodstock lakes demonstrate that as with human disease, early detection is important.

A relatively small amount of the invasive water plant was found four years ago in a cove on Lake Christopher. A group of volunteers, led by Jim Chandler and supported by the Community Lakes Association, quickly organized an effort to pull the plants.

The rapid response was important because a single segment of the plant can spread it throughout a lake.

The effort to pull the milfoil has continued each year since. The plant has been contained in the cove and a couple of spots just outside it, according to Chandler.

"We can keep on top of it, but people have to be vigilant," he said.

One-half acre in Shagg
By contrast, an infestation in Shagg Pond was not identified until it had been growing for at least a couple of years. That was three years ago, and the battle to halt the spread of the plant continues.

About one-half acre of the pond is currently affected, too much to control by hand pulling.

With funding from a Department of Environmental Protection grant, Chandler and others last year placed 40 black geotextile mats on the bottom of the pond, over the plants, to kill them by denying them light.

Each mat is 100 feet square, covering a total of 20,000 square feet of the pond bottom. The milfoil is growing about 10 feet beneath the surface, Chandler said. It can grow as deep as 15 feet.

There aren't enough mats to cover all of the milfoil. "Each year we keep moving the mats closer to shore," he said. "It's

Underwater weeds not the only worry

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Brian Lewis, a biologist with the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife, certainly agrees with Jim Chandler and others who see invasive plants like milfoil as a threat to local lakes and fisheries — but plants are not the only aquatic invaders he's worried about.

Addressing Saturday's annual meeting of the Lakes Association of Woodstock and Greenwood, Lewis noted that milfoil was a threefold threat to local fisheries: it reduces habitat; increases competition for the usable habitat that remains; and, when the plant material decays, it reduces available oxygen.

And things may soon get worse. Eurasian milfoil — the nasty cousin of the more common variable-leaf milfoil already found here — has been found in a gravel pit in Scarborough.

"Eurasian milfoil makes the stuff you guys are dealing with look benign. It's very, very nasty stuff," he told the audience of approximately 40 people.

Illegal stockings
But the focus of Lewis' talk was on another threat — illegally stocked species of invasive fish.

Those species include two popular sports fish: bass and northern pike.

Both have been illegally stocked in lakes where they are not indigenous, usually by anglers who are not interested in the salmon and trout already there.

The results can be devastating. Take Long Pond, in the Belgrade Lakes region.

"There was a great salmon fishery there a

Mill rates set, bills in the mail

Woodstock, Newry and Greenwood have all set their mill rates and property owners can expect to see the result — a tax bill — this week or next.

Woodstock is the only one of the three that will see a rate increase. At 11.1 mills, set Monday, it's up .6 over last year.

The municipal assessment went down this year, but school and county assessments went up, accounting for the rate increase, Town Manager Vern Maxfield said.

The town's taxable valuation is $117,907,985.

Tax bills were expected to go out within the next week, according to town officials.

Newry selectmen also set their mill rate Monday, at 8.5. That's down significantly from last year's 13.15, the result in part of a recent revaluation and the addition

Smithsonian barn exhibition opens here next Friday

By MICHAEL DANIELS

A major traveling exhibition of the Smithsonian Institution is coming to Bethel.

From Aug. 19 until Oct. 22, "Barn Again! Celebrating an American Icon" will be on display in the Dr. Moses Mason House Exhibit Hall on Broad Street.

The setting — a 19th century barn once used to stable horses and other livestock — is apt. "Barn Again!" traces the history of farming in Maine and around the country by focusing on the physical locus of farm life, the barn.

The exhibition depicts English, Pennsylvania and German barn styles, as well as New England barns with connected farm buildings, prairie barns, tobacco barns, round barns, dairy barns and pole barns.

"Barn Again!" looks at the agricultural changes that followed major movements in American history, and shows how those changes led to architectural adaptations on the farm.

By so doing, the exhibition aims to give visitors new ways to consider a familiar icon.

Those historical movements included 19th-century European immigration and westward migration, as well as industrial farming in the 21st century, which has rendered many traditional barns obsolete — because they cannot accommodate the huge machinery and enormous harvests of today's large-scale farms.

But "Barn Again!" also suggests how, even as barns disappear from the countryside, their iconic role in American culture remains secure.

"Barn Again!" displays include an architectural scale

'Greenstock' car and truck owners can now re-register from home

By ALISON ALOISIO

Did you remember to get the insurance card out of the glove compartment?

And to write down the mileage?

For most vehicle-owning Mainers, gathering up such information and heading off to the town office is an annual chore.

But now Woodstock and Greenwood offer another option.

It's Rapid Renewal, the state's online service for re-registration. Greenwood started participating in April, and Woodstock signed on about two weeks ago.

Towns must formally decide to participate in order for their residents to use the service, because the state must set up a town's computer system to download information.

Only routine re-registrations are handled — new registrations must be done at the town office, as it must make changes in address or a change in the names to which a vehicle is registered.

Greenwood decided to offer the option as a convenience to residents.

"We had some people saying it was hard to get in here during office hours," said deputy clerk Angie Lovejoy.

The service also reduces the time office employees must spend on the process.

If a town accepts credit cards, residents may pay the fee and excise tax online by credit card. If the town does not accept cards, the person must be willing to enter bank account information to register online.

Greenwood does not accept credit card payments, but Woodstock does.

Vehicle owners must also provide their insurance information online, so the state can check to ensure it is up to date.

FEELING HOME AGAIN AT ADULT ED

To the Editor:

The old line "You can't go home again" is not completely true. On Aug. 4, I had the pleasure of attending the 2005 graduation at SAD44 Adult Education and truly did feel right at home. My years directing SAD44 Adult Education had many rewards but none more important than the 22 graduations during that time.

The 2005 ceremony was very reflective of the changes in the population served by our program in SAD44. The 20- and 30-somethings making up the class this year are young parents who have realized the need to further their education to make a living. They are in a hurry and highly motivated. They are also incredibly grateful to the exceptional staff at adult education that restored their confidence in their ability to learn, provided excellent instruction, and helped them focus their goals and make a plan.

In the audience, I was delighted to see Daisy Coolidge who reminded me of her class in the 1980s that included Ruth Bean, Doris Fraser, Charlene Haines and Sylvia Wight.

The core group of 50- and 60-somethings at the time decided to come back to school after being recruited in Lillian Conant's sewing class. That was a different time and the motivation for them was learning for the sake of learning and to complete an education interrupted by family circumstances. They were fortunate to have been able to make a living without a high school credential but still wanted to join their friends and family who had completed high school.

They took their time, thoroughly enjoying the classes over several years with Rod Abbott, Mac Davis, Ann Holt and others.

Lois Ruff, now a teacher in the local adult education program, reminded me of a memorable graduation in the 1990s, when the decline of the local wood products industry was apparent and the influx of dislocated workers became a sign of things to come. A new sense of urgency and need for counseling and planning for higher education or employment was evident.

The Class of 2005 all have plans for further education through the Community College, the University System, or through apprenticeship programs.

In visiting the area last week, Gov. Baldacci highlighted the vital role adult education programs play in transitioning Maine people into higher education and the workforce. The $900,000 in additional funding for adult education provided by the Maine legislature in this very difficult budget year is tangible evidence of this vision.

In my current role as Executive Director of the Maine Adult Education Association, I spent a lot of time working on this funding. However, it was really not a hard sell — legislators see adult education at work in their own districts and know its value.

The towns in SAD44 were visionary in establishing the program in the 1970's and supporting it through the years since in good times and challenging times. The vision was a locally based comprehensive program providing academic, vocational, community education, and eventually on-site college classes. This was achieved with a lot of community support. The program has been there for so many individuals when needed, and has been able to flexibly adapt to changing times. What does not change is the desire of individuals in this area to become more educated, employable, better citizens and parents. The graduation was inspiring and I thoroughly felt "home again."

I know that SAD44 Adult Education, under the capable direction of Jeanie Waite, is about to begin a new year and hope that your readers will follow the example of the Class of 2005 and previous classes in seeking out new adventures in learning as part of adult education.

FOOTBALL CAMP THANKS, NEXT STEPS

To the Editor:

Last week's football camp at Telstar was an unqualified success due in no small part to the volunteers who took the time and worked so hard with such enthusiasm.

Thanks go out to Julie Park for organizing the cheering camp; Nancy Annis, Carole Del Duca, Heidi Holt and others who helped with registration and sizing the kids for uniforms; coaches Brian Peterson, Dave Bonney and Andy Helms (the dads); coaches Mikel-Lee Patten, Andy Brooks, Alex Helms, Anthony Bradstreet, TJ O'Connor, and Frank Del Duca (the Telstar crew); the Telstar administration for use of the field and most of all the great kids that made the camp what it was.

Thirty-seven students learned a lot about football in a short amount of time, with most of them attending all three days and their desire to learn was obvious.

Practices will begin on Tuesday, Aug. 16 from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Greenwood baseball field (on the road to Mt. Abram). They will be daily in August.

Once school starts the program is supplying all of the protective gear, families only need to pay for one set of practice pants and jersey and one set of game pants and jersey which will be supplied by our equipment vendor. The cost is $70, which can be split into two payments of $35. A registration fee of $25 brings the total cost to $95 and this can be taken care of at the Greenwood Town Office. Cleats (plastic, no metal allowed) need to be purchased separately.

Registrations will be accepted well into September and if there are scheduling conflicts with other activities, arrangements may be made to accommodate such. Our feeling is that if the youngsters want to try football, we want them to have the opportunity and will work with the family as much as we reasonably can to make it possible.

Many thanks again to all who made the camp such a success.

A MATH PROBLEM AT TELSTAR?

To the Editor:

Did you know that Telstar High School has a math problem?

A lot of the students graduating from Telstar over the past few years are not passing the college math tests. Why? Because, the colleges do not recognize Corp Plus Math. They want algebra, geometry and trigonometry.

A lot of students now have to waste a semester or two taking a regular math class that does not count toward their degree. So come on Telstar get on the bandwagon and put these basic math classes back into the curriculum.

Help our future students to have the right tools to pass these classes.

model of a working barn, old toys, period advertising and historic images.

"Barn Again!" is part of Museum on Main Street, a collaboration between the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service and the Federation of State Humanities Councils.

The Bethel Historical Society is hosting the exhibition here.

"We are truly fortunate to have been selected to host this exhibition," said Executive Director Stanley Howe.

"We expect not only local Maine people to visit but the many national and international visitors who will be touring the area during foliage season."

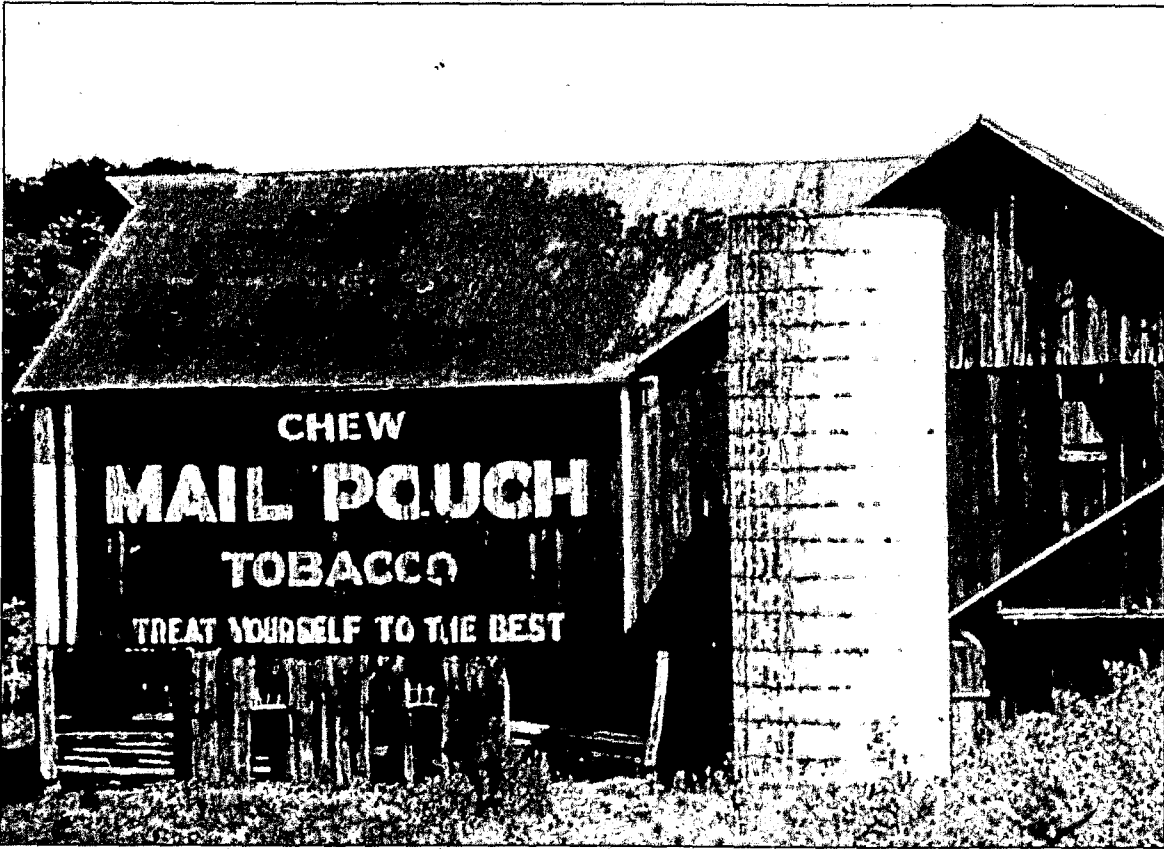

The exhibition will be open from 1 to 4 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday, Howe said. Admission is free.

In conjunction with the "Barn Again!" visit, on Saturday, Sept. 17 the Historical Socety will conduct a tour of 16 area barns, chronicling their original use, preservation and transformation to inns, antique and shopping emporia, artist's studio as well as their continued domestic and agricultural use.

There will be an old-fashioned barn dance that evening. The admission fee for the tour is $10 and includes a map and description of each barn.

For more information, call the society at 842-2908.

BARN AD—One of the countless uses barns have been put to — especially when they happened to be located along well-traveled roads — was as advertising billboards. Among the most popular slogans, show here in this central Ohio barn, was "Chew Mail Pouch Tobacco." While the Smithsonian Institution does not necessarily endorse the message of this particular ad, it is one of the many items that will be on display when the Bethel Historical Society hosts "Barn Again! Celebrating an American Icon." The exhibition will be in the Dr. Moses Mason Exhibition Hall on Broad Street. It will run from Aug. 19 through Oct. 22. Renewal

When the re-registration transaction is complete, the vehicle owner prints out a copy of a temporary registration. An official one is mailed shortly afterward.

The excise tax collected by the state is directly transferred to the town's account, Lovejoy said.

And the town office regularly downloads re-registrations to maintain a record of who has re-registered online.

According to Greenwood's downloads, Lovejoy said, about 10 people have used the service so far.

"Two or three people have called and said they're happy with it," she said.

Woodstock has not yet had anyone use the service, but several residents who agreed to serve as test cases had their re-registrations go through smoothly, according to Rose Fraser, deputy town clerk.

Fraser said the town will lose the $3 it makes for processing each in-office re-registration, but the option saves office time and is more convenient for residents.

The loss of the processing fee is one reason Newry has not adopted Rapid Renewal, according to administrative assistant Loretta Berry.

She also said that with only about 350 residents in town, making the switch does not seem worthwhile.

In Bethel, Town Manager Scott Cole said the town does plan to look at offering the service, after some personnel transitions in the Town Office are complete.

Rapid Renewal, Cole said,

"is a good idea."

Andover and Gilead have not yet discussed the option, according to town officials.

Statewide, a total of 86 municipalities — comprising more than half of Maine's population — use the service, with more than 100,000 transactions processed so far, according to the Secretary of State's office.

The service may be used for both passenger and commercial vehicles.

But "for hire," emergency/coach, buses, vehicles over 12,000 pounds GVW, apportioned, special mobile equipment, tractors, municipal and state vehicles must be renewed in person.

The web address for the service is www.sosonline.org.

Briefly

Purchase of spring lot proposed WOODSTOCK — Selectmen last week heard a request last week that the town consider purchasing a three-acre lot adjacent to the popular Roadside Spring on Route 26. The lot has recently gone on the market for $45,000, and there is some concern that if wells are drilled for houses it could affect the spring. Joanna Reese asked what it would take to put the question before voters. Selectmen said if there seemed to be enough obvious interest, they could place it on the next annual Town Meeting warrant, or she could circulate a petition requesting it. They said they have heard concerns expressed by only one other person so far. The town continues to have the rights to the spring itself, officials said.

Town Meeting articles pass

BETHEL — Only four members of the general public turned out for Tuesday evening's special Town Meeting, and it took them less than 20 minutes to pass the three article under consideration. All three passed unanimously, with little or no discussion. They included: creation of a loan program for town employees buying back service in the Maine State Retirement System, acceptance of a grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture for riverbank stabilization behind the Riverside Cemetery, and allocation of funds for work on the approaches to the new recreational bridge over the Androscoggin River.

THS sports practices starting

BETHEL — The first practice day for fall sports at Telstar High School is Monday, Aug. 15. Athletes are reminded they need to have a current physical (within the past two years). Field hockey, soccer and cross-country will meet at THS at 5 p.m. Golf will meet at the Bethel Inn at 4:30 p.m. There will also be a parent meeting Aug. 15 at 7:30 p.m. in the Telstar auditorium. Eligibility rules will be reviewed and coaches will also review team rules, goals and schedules. All paper work can be completed at the meeting.

Field hockey day camp offered

BETHEL — The Telstar High School varsity field hockey team will offer a Day Camp Aug. 22-26 for girls entering fourth through seventh grade. It will take place from 9 a.m. to noon each day at the high school. The cost is $60 (includes a t-shirt). Participants are advised to bring a water bottle, mouthguard and appropriate footwear. Forms are available at THS or at Crescent Park Elementary School, or e-mail garygail@megalink.net or jkimball@megalink.net.

New novel by game warden

BETHEL — Randall Probert, a retired Maine game warden has recently released a new book, "A Warden's Worry," an historical novel set at Howe Brook Village in T8-R4 in Aroostook County. Howe Brook was a wilderness settlement that grew along the Bangor & Aroostook Railroad on the shore of St. Croix Lake. The area was Probert's first patrol in his warden career. The book, as well as others by Probert, is available at Books N Things, the Cinnamon Stick Café and the Bear River Trading Post.

More data on black bears

BERLIN, N.H. — Wildlife biologists have some new information to help them deal with black bears attracted to human civilization. A recent three-year study tracked about a dozen bears that had been captured in Lincoln and Berlin back in 2000. The bears were released back into the wild with special collars to track their movements. "The biggest surprise was how localized the home range was" for some of the bears, said Fish and Game biologist Andrew Timmins. "One of the Lincoln females had a summer range of one mile. A female will usually range six to nine miles. She found everything she needed in one square mile." In the years since the study was started, Timmins said the number of bear complaints has dropped in both Lincoln and Berlin. He attributes this to people becoming more tolerant of bears and to an ordinance passed in 2003 in Lincoln. The local law set fines for leaving garbage where it could attract wildlife. "After the ordinance was passed and few places were fined, the word got out and this year, we've only had a few incidents," said Lincoln Town Manager Ted Sutton.

Moosehead septic space scarce

GREENVILLE — The Moosehead Lake region is running out of space to spread the thousands of gallons of human waste that are emptied from septic tanks each year. The area is running low on places to dispose of the waste that is generated in Greenville, Shirley, Beaver Cove and the unorganized territories. With the largest subdivision ever in Maine now being proposed in the Moosehead Lake area, officials say the pressure is on to find a site large enough to accommodate the region's present and future needs. David Thorp, a septic waste contractor and a Shirley selectman, said the Moosehead region needs to set aside a large tract on which to spread waste. He said it's been elusive to find a suitable site, even after looking for five years. "There has not been 1 gallon of increased disposal capacity anywhere in Piscataquis County for the last 25 years, yet development has placed an ever increasing burden on an infrastructure that is woefully inadequate," Thorp said.

From the Bethel Police Log:

Tuesday, Aug. 9

At 7:10 a.m. Chief Alan Carr and Officer Buddy Richard responded to Philbrook Street for a report that someone had spray painted the door handles on a vehicle. Some garage door windows had also been spray painted.

At 7:38 a.m. Officer Buddy Richard received a report that that someone had spray painted a motorcycle on Mason Street and had stolen a helmet.

Monday, Aug. 8

At 9:30 p.m. Officer Phil Taylor responded to Route 2 for a report of a car all over the road. The vehicle could not be located.

Sunday, Aug. 7

At 10:12 a.m. Officer Bill Britting contacted an out-of-town subject regarding a purse she had left at a village business. The subject asked that it be mailed, but the officer said the PD preferred that property be transferred in person. The subject planned to return to Bethel.

At 3:45 p.m. Officer Mac McCormick responded to a report of an unwanted subject who had repeatedly come to an Intervale Road location and made threats to damage property. The complainant was advised to obtain protection orders from district court.

At 9:55 a.m. Officer Bill Britting responded to Railroad Street for a 911 hang-up call. The subject said she had tried to call "411" to get information.

At 12:39 a.m. Sgt. S.R. White and Officer Travis Fillmore responded to a village business for a reported fight in the parking lot. On arrival several subjects said it had been a verbal incident only and those involved had left.

Saturday, Aug. 6

At 1:36 a.m. Officer Travis Fillmore and a county deputy responded to Vernon Street for a report of a subject stealing a real estate sign. The same subject had been observed several times previously pulling the sign out of the ground.

At 2:05 a.m. Officer Travis Fillmore and a county deputy responded to the North Road to assist another county officer with a report of a domestic assault. On arrival the situation had calmed, and the two parties involved were given disorderly conduct warnings by one of the county officers.

At 5:27 a.m. Officer Travis Fillmore responded to a West Bethel Road location for a report of an unwanted subject. The subject was given a warning for disorderly conduct and criminal trespass.

At 5:49 a.m. Officer Travis Fillmore assisted Bethel Rescue on a call at a village location.

At 12:05 a.m. Officer Buddy Richard was requested by dispatch to check a Route 26 location for a vehicle. On arrival he learned it had been located elsewhere by a Franklin County officer.

At 12:47 a.m. Officer Buddy Richard responded to the Gore Road for a 911 hang-up call. The resident said she had not called 911, but thanked the officer for checking. He suggested she put her house number at the end of the driveway so she could be found more quickly in a real emergency.

Thursday, Aug. 4

At 8:30 a.m. Officer Buddy Richard assisted the Bethel Fire Department with a fire alarm call at a village business.

At 12 p.m. Officer Travis Fillmore responded to a Route 2 location for a report of a subject harassing and threatening several other subjects. Those involved were given statement forms to fill out.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log. It lists all cases of adults being arrested or issued a criminal summons in the 10 days prior to the newspaper's publication, but does not include all reports of other police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies.

going to take a few years.”

Chandler said he is in the process of moving the mats. The Lakes Association is also considering using a half dozen large black tarps, weighted down with rocks, to cover additional areas.

Chandler said four separate, smaller patches of milfoil are being pulled by hand.

And, he said, “there’s a lot of loose milfoil. People need to be careful to inspect their boats [for clinging plants] when they put them in and take them out of the water.”

It is illegal in Maine to transport milfoil on boats from pond to pond. Chandler said the Lakes Association is trying to get that word out, in particular to new people renting camps on both Shagg Pond and Lake Christopher.

decade ago,” Lewis said.

But then someone who, apparently, preferred to fish for northern pike introduced their own favorite species.

As a result, “the salmon fishery is not there anymore,” Lewis said. “The northern pike wiped it out.”

Closer to home, the historic brook trout fishery in the Rapid River, below Richardson Lake, appears headed for a similar fate.

In this case the culprit is not northern pike, but smallmouth bass, which were introduced illegally to Umbagog Lake two decades ago.

The Rapid River flows into Umbagog, and the bass are now working their way up the river, threatening the native fishery.

Efforts are underway to prevent the bass from taking over (see, for example: www.orvis.com), but Lewis was not optimistic.

The bass, he said, “are pretty much going to destroy that fishery from the bottom up, and there’s not a lot that can be done.”

Invasives we’ve learned to live with

In Bethel area lakes, little remains of the original, native fisheries — but there is still a lot of good fishing.

Large and smallmouth bass can be caught in North Pond — and that’s not a bad thing, Lewis said.

While not an indigenous species, “in some ponds like North Pond, bass are OK,” he said, “They don’t seem to really hurt anything.”

“A lot of people enjoy fishing for large- and smallmouth bass,” Lewis said, “and in a place like North Pond [which is too shallow to support a substantial trout or salmon fishery] that’s the best fishery you’re ever going to have.”

Bass can also be caught in nearby South Pond, where their presence is a bit more problematic, in part because IF&W is attempting to establish a salmon fishery there.

From North Pond, Lewis said, “the bass migrate to South Pond, where they prey on the small salmon, to the detriment of that fishery.”

Nonetheless, that salmon fishery appears to be doing well.

“In 2000, we started stocking South and Round ponds exclusively for salmon,” Lewis said. “We thought with the water quality and limited smelt population, it would produce some decent salmon, and apparently we were right — we came back in the fall of 2004 and trap netted up probably 12 to 20 three- to four-pound beauties.”

But the growth potential of the salmon fishery in the two ponds is probably limited by the lack of forage fish, especially smelt, he said.

“The smelt population is limited, so you can only take so many salmon. While the salmon there are exceptional relative to what you get at Lake Thompson or Lake Auburn, it’s going to be slow fishing.”

On the other side of the ledger, togue is no longer stocked in South Pond, and the population there appears to be on the decline.

Lewis said the togue’s decline is probably not linked to the competition from salmon.

Rather, he said, it is more likely caused by the lack of enough spawning habitat to support a sustainable population.

Other lakes

In nearby Bryant Pond, Lake Christopher’s brook trout and splake are popular game fish, especially for ice fishermen.

“They’re hammering them in the winter,” Lewis said, but the lake remains “an excellent fishery,” in large part because of heavy stocking by IF&W.

Splake also provide good fishing in two of the area’s smaller ponds, Shagg Pond in Woodstock and Indian Pond in Greenwood.

Both ponds produce fish in the six- or seven-pound range, and eight- and nine-pounders have been taken at Shagg Pond.

Splake is a hybrid cross between brook and lake trout. “You get the catchability of a brook trout with the fast growth of a lake trout,” Lewis said.

What you don’t get is a breeding population.

Splake don’t do that, Lewis is noted, perhaps because the two parent species spawn over different types of ground.

“Physically they’re able to reproduce,” Lewis said, “but mentally, no.”

From the most recent bulletin of the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries & Wildlife:

‘One selfish act’

Background: Region A is one of seven regions the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries & Wildlife divides the state into. Broken Bridge and Crocker ponds were reclaimed approximately five years ago, according to IF&W spokesman Mark Latti. Golden shiners are popular as bait, and as forage for bass and crappies.

“Region A staff recently returned to evaluate the stocked brook trout fisheries in two of our most recently reclaimed ponds. On visiting Broken Bridge Pond and Crocker Pond in Albany, we discovered both ponds full of illegally re-stocked golden shiners. Golden shiners compete with brook trout for available resources and were a very unwelcome sight for biologists’ eyes. The long hours and thousands of dollars in resources that went into reclaiming these ponds in the hope of recreating a quality brook trout fishery were largely undone by one selfish act. These ponds are closed to the taking of bait and will remain closed regardless of the quality of the trout fisheries in these ponds.”

THE ILLEGAL INTRODUCTION of any fish into any Maine water is a Class E crime, punishable by fines up to $10,000. Andover

by Melinda Averill

Hello readers, what a gorgeous weekend we had for Olde Home Days. Everything seemed to go very well, the parade and all the other festivities. Next week I hope to have the results from the flower show, parade, and the pie eating contest. The day after Olde Home Days I took to the beach for the day, caught some rays and relaxed, so needless to say I did not get caught up on all the news.

Harold (Buster) Faulkenham has had his daughter Glenda here visiting for a couple of weeks from Canada. She left on Friday, Aug. 5.

Dirk MacKnight's sister Debbie has been here visiting for about three weeks. She is from Rodondo Beach, California. While here she spent time at the family's camp in Oakland, and also helped Dirk out at his booth on Olde Home Days.

The Andover Fire Department took part in a training session on July 23, when they burned the former Jodrey house in East Andover. The house was recently sold and the new owners want to build a new place, so they offered the house to the fire department to burn.

The Andover Little League Baseball Team had an end of the year cookout on July 29. It was hosted by Glen and Cathy Conrad at their home in East Andover. A nice time was had by everyone.

Get well wishes to Virginia Morton, who has been in and out of the hospital lately. Sheryl Hoisington and one of her sons were here over the weekend visiting family and friends.

Peg and Joe Madigan are now grandparents. Danny and Karen Madigan of California had a baby boy born on Aug. 3, Caine Madigan.

Suzanne Richardson, her fiancé, Bryan Ware and their friend, Stephanie Patterson, all from Lafayette, Ind. arrived on Saturday, Aug. 6 to spend the week with her parents, Joe and Peg Madigan. Bryan and Suzanne are getting married on Saturday and plan on spending the week doing last minute errands.

Have a nice weekend everyone, hope for sunny weather. I will be in Rangeley for an outdoor wedding.

Sherri Poland and Dee Beck took their mothers,

Tommy Poland and Ginny Beck to Bar Harbor for a two-day and one night outing and sight-seeing. They drove up Cadillac Mountain. They do this almost every year for their mother's birthdays.

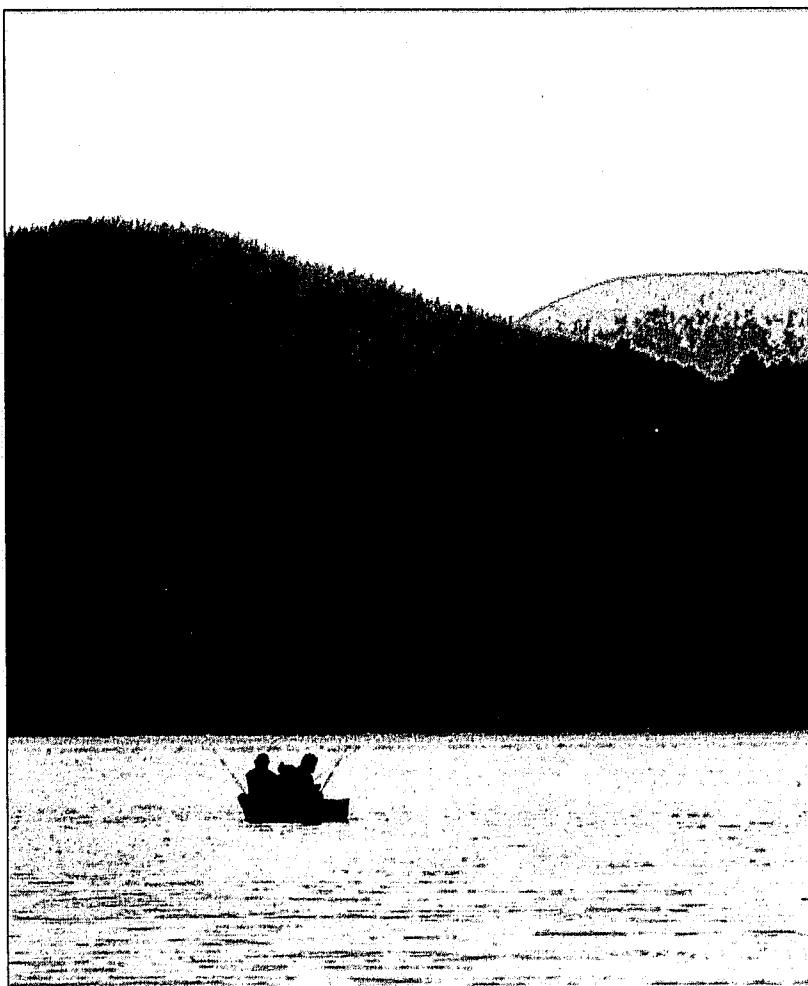

Happy birthday to Rachel Curtis, who lives in Waterboro. Rachel is the daughter of Tracy Poland, South Woodstock and Ken Grover of Bethel.

Judi and Dave Brown had a lobster cookout for the family at their new home at North Pond in Greenwood at the end of July. There were around 36 who attended.

Over 100 people enjoyed a beautiful day at the Lazy M Ranch in Woodstock on Sunday, July 31. Virginia Mason was the hostess for the occasion. It is a beautiful place. You drive up a road where there are only trees and suddenly you see a beautiful house and fields and a large pond. This was a Thurlow cousins' reunion, honoring Violet Wilson's 85th birthday. A huge potluck lunch was served. I enjoyed seeing many cousins I had not seen in a long time. Thanks to Ginny for the idea and work she put into it. Everyone had a wonderful time.

Our grandsons, Ryan and Doug Wing, paid us a nice visit last weekend. We had not seen them for quite a while and we were so pleased to have them come and get caught up on lots of their news. Doug works for Liberty Insurance in Keene, N.H. and Ryan works at Yankee Microwave and goes to school part-time. I love to have them come. It makes my day.

Larry Billings won a $10 gift certificate at Books 'N' Things the other day. It is so nice of Sandy Dennis to hold drawings for them. Congratulations to the Nickersons on their book. They are certainly in the forefront of historical preservation, and the craftsman style was so important in the last century says Larry.

Olive Risko and Evelyn Bean watched the Museum on July 30. It was the last week for the exhibit of souvenir plates. Curator Larry Billings has enjoyed setting up exhibits this year, and it is not always easy to know what to do. But, it can be very rewarding. They always do the best they can and it is not always easy to determine that either. But, people generally know they are trying and respond accordingly.

Certainly their intentions are always good. They would not do all they do otherwise. Larry Billings, the curator, has put out a couple of little collections for exhibits on History Day. Some society members will wear old-fashioned costumes for the occasion. Joyce Howe will make some and others have them from other previous celebrations. The Billings flower garden is nearly through blossoming so either artificial or store-bought ones will decorate the Museum. After History Day the Museum will be open a couple more weeks, then things will start to wind down.

Larry thanks those who have watched the Museum and, of course, the public for coming. The Museum is well worth seeing. Curator Larry has donated some old postcards, another doll, and a large framed print to the Historical Society. He is also donating a crystal chandelier he got at the Candle Place. It will make a fine exhibit, as it is quite valuable. This is Larry's gift at summer's end.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

I have just about had it up to here with SPAM and I'm not referring to the mystery meat either.

Anyone who has spent any time on the Internet knows exactly what I'm talking about. SPAM is the annoying emails we get advertising everything from car insurance to free DVD's.

If you type your email address just about anywhere in cyberspace you become a prime target for SPAM. If you are naïve enough to actually open up one of the spamatisements and respond to it, you automatically triple your incoming SPAM. I know because that's what I did once and have been paying for it every since.

Once upon a time in my early computing days I got excited whenever I received an email from a friend or a forwarded joke, but in those good old days (a few short years ago) I averaged 5 or 6 messages a day. Now I average 400 or 500 messages a day, yet only 5 or 6 are friends or forwarded jokes.

You may have heard a lot about SPAM filters and through my Internet Service Provider figuring bye-bye SPAM forever. Far less junk mail finds its way into my email inbox, but because some of the good email sometimes ends up in the SPAM filter, I still have to check that everyday.

I resist the temptation to check some of them out, but I have to admit that the message in the subject lines do make me a bit curious.

Just today, for example, I had no less than 10 offers to refinance my home with interest rates ranging anywhere from 3.7% to the incredible low of 1.95%. No credit checks, no questions asked. One enterprising sender called "Crown Specialists" not only wants to refinance my home for 3.25%, they also want to find me a date.

I get a lot of those dating ones telling me that someone in South Paris is interested in me or promiscuous singles are seeking me out. Maybe because I spend so much time on the Internet the assumption is that I'm lonely and need a date. Still, I wonder who in South Paris is interested in me.

I'm probably missing a lot of great opportunities by not responding to some of the SPAM. As well as the refinancing and date offers I received today, I also was offered the chance to make $1,000 a week, fire my boss, quite my day job, get rich from the comfort of my own home. I'll bet those are all job offers to send SPAM to other people.

I have to admit that the message in the subject lines do make me a bit curious.

I passed up claiming a lot of prizes that I won today too. There were several DVD players and home entertainment centers, a digital camera, a couple of computers and a complete facial makeover. I even won a Ford Explorer and several all-expense paid trips, but I couldn't bring myself to check those notifications out. You know the old adage "If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is too good to be true."

If I wanted to obtain prescription drugs without a prescription, I received 11 emails that would tell me how, but I didn't respond to them either.

I got 6 email messages telling me about Oprah's Secret Diet leading me to believe that it's probably not much of a secret after all.

I got several offers for debt counseling or consolidation. One was from Christian Debt Management offering financial help with a Christian perspective. What do they do, pray the debt away?

Education seems to be offered in abundance through SPAM too. This morning Online University said I could get a degree in only 18 months. This afternoon Education Provider topped that with a degree in just 12 months. I'm sure those degrees could open some pretty big doors for me, but I passed them up anyway.

I also passed up 14 credit card offers, all pre-approved too. I don't know how they could be pre-approved considering some were addressed to BOUCHARD and some to sbouchard@sunjournal.com. Is it any wonder that there is a major problem with the escalating cost of credit card debt in this country? Sounds to me like a direct path to Christian Debt Management's services.

I certainly won't go into the sexually explicit SPAM, but I had 25 of those today and I have never once been to any of the X-rated websites. Just the message lines made me blush. I did get an email from "Pearline" boasting a large sperm bank. I don't know if that comes under X-rated or if it was an advertisement for a fertility clinic.

There was a cute email from Tamra Madison that said "I miss you". That's so sad, because I don't even know Tamra Madison.

Needless to say, I spend way too much time deleting unwanted SPAM. I'm sure some are attempts to steal my identity, but most just want to steal my money of which I have precious little.

The way I see it I would prefer to get my junk in my mailbox so I can just toss it in the trash and take my SPAM in the can with some Franco-American spaghetti on the side. Still, I do wonder who in South Paris is interested in me.

I try to mind my own business when it comes to what goes on in towns I do not live in and I really do not care for judgmental attitudes, but I must admit I have some pretty strong opinions about the towering, overpowering building that is going up on the property where Charles and Rose Brown's little cottage once stood. Maybe it is because I recall what a charming place it was then and how much fun Frank and I had when we went to visit his "Grandmother Brown" but I do not think it adds anything to the look of Main Street. I like the small-town atmosphere and even though Bethel has grown and progressed everything still seems to blend in and, in my opinion that does not. That building is pretty hard to ignore but I shall do my best.

Carol (Flint) and Dan Hatch recently became grandparents again as son, Matt, and wife, Danielle, are the proud parents of Keegan Daniel Hatch. Their son, Michael and wife, Melissa, have a daughter, Maddie in Texas and they do not get to see her often, but Keegan will be in nearby New Hampshire, so I expect as gas prices not withstanding, that they will be visiting often.

Maybe it is because I have had to travel more often to get to my physical therapy, but it seems as if I have seen a lot more animals lately. I do not know where the geese have gone but I have seen ducks, loons, a big dog, fox, turkeys (one had a large batch of chicks with her, small ones, too) and the latest was a proud mother hen walking her brood up the road. She had one little black chick that took my eye, and a brown one. I do not know if she was a bantam as she seemed too large to be one, but the chicks looked like bantams. Owen Brown has some chickens he has been raising at his place and they have a bantam rooster running around and the little rooster does his best to try to coax the hens out of the hen house. Cute.

this week for a short reunion are Lisa, from Philadelphia, and Keith, from California. The traveling was not without difficulties (Bethel, Maine is at the end of the world as far as the airlines are concerned, it seems) but they arrived safely, if not on time, and that is the important part. All too soon the three siblings will be traveling their separate ways, and Norm and Sylvia will be left with a very quiet, empty nest.

Stephen and Joanne Greenleaf, Rumford, R.I., were in town visiting relatives for a few days recently.

Kate Nickerson of Auburn spent the weekend at the home of her parents, George and Danna Nickerson.

Bob and Ginny Keniston returned home Sunday following an eighteen-hundred-mile round-trip to Labrador City, Labrador. The main reason being to spend a week at Three Rivers Lodge. This meant a one-hundred and fifty-mile trip by float plane further north. The trout fishing was outstanding and the northern pike and lake trout were plentiful. The hospitality was unbelievable.

Edna York returned home on Friday from the Norway Rehab and Living Center.

Mary Paine, also, returned to her home on Chapman Street on Friday after back surgery on Wednesday, the 3rd.

Justin and Sue Rice, with children, Alyssa and William D. from Guilford, Conn., arrived at The Chalet at Sunday River last Thursday and were dinner guests with grandparents Mary and Lefty Keniston.

Other Rice family came from Guilford, Conn., to The Chalet on Friday — Douglas and Sandy Rice and Pat and Rachel Rice-Welsh. All of these family members along with Don Rice of Waterford, Adam Rice and girls, Bryenna and Michaela of Augusta, Sheldon and Jackie Rice and children, Jaidyn and Dalton of Waterford and Chip Howe and wife, Barbara, and Jiselle and Kaylea of Scarborough attended the annual Lobster and Clam Bake, with salads, corn and raspberry and blueberry pie, at Alton and Donna Rice-Howe's

Castlebay on the common

The Bethel Bandstand Concerts series will feature the Celtic tunes of Castlebay on Sunday, Aug. 21 at 4 p.m. on the Bethel Common.

The duo, Castlebay weaves together the timeless traditions of Maine's nautical legacy and it's poignant Scottish and Irish heritage blending traditional and contemporary musical styles. Celtic harp, guitar, fiddle and whistles are used ensemble or as vocal support. Both Julia Lane and Fred Gosbee are fine, expressive vocalists — as well as talented instrumentalists — delivering songs with emotion and exuberance.

In concert, Castlebay treats the audience to a musical journey through time and across the Atlantic. Having a deep appreciation for the unique character of their home state of Maine, as well as the Celtic lands, Castlebay weaves together history, legend and experience into their personable performance style.

During the past ten years, Castlebay has toured the Eastern U.S., Ireland, England and Scotland playing at festivals, folk clubs, arts centers and schools, as well as on radio and television. They have appeared three times at the prestigious International Festival of the Sea in England, at the Edinburg Folk Festival.

The final concert in the series will feature the acoustic folk music of Anni Clark on Aug. 28. The Bethel Bandstand Concerts are sponsored by Paula Gillies and Chris Offen. All concerts begin at 4 p.m. and run sixty to ninety minutes in length. The rain site is Bingham Auditorium on Church Street at Gould Academy. The public is cordially invited to attend.

home at Waterford. Also attending were Roger and Lillian Conant and grandson, Lance Tyler of Albany, went to Portsmouth, R.I. on Aug. 1 to visit with son Aaron and his wife, Triste, and new baby girl, Megan. They enjoyed every day of the visit and Lillian was the live-in "nannie." One day Aaron, his dad and Lance toured Boston and especially the Aquarium. Lorena and Jake Tyler joined their family for the weekend. All the Maine visitors returned home Sunday evening.

Another August weekend has passed. Summer is getting shorter. Vegetable gardens are now producing edibles. Norm and Ellie Davis have a variety of plants and some super summer squash at their little stand on Route 26. Proceeds are going to the Bethel Library.

Buster Williamson is now distributing wax beans. The raspberries and blueberries are ripe and juicy. Slight tinges of pink are on the tomatoes, but we never plan on ripe ones unless we go further south.

It was a busy weekend with many visitors in town. Anita and Bill Harris arrived with family coming and going.

Eileen and Jerry Gelling are spending the week at their house on the lake. Jerry is an ardent fisherman.

Birch Point still has many guests.

Evelyn Kenney attended her high school reunion on Saturday evening.

Many familiar faces were seen at the Andover Old Home Days. The Nelsons, Kennes, Millers, Carolyn Taylor, Cindy Robash, Diane Bouchard, Sue and Dick Angvine, Jeanette and Lionel Roy, the Wixoms and Liz Stanczyk. Don and Donna Glover were at the parade.

Donna is at war because Upton, they say, stole their covered bridge. I don't know where we hid it as it is very large. The recent report of the county commissioners printed a survey on the Covered Bridges in Oxford County. We would like to have a covered bridge, but the Bennet Bridge is in Magalloway, situated in a beautiful spot on Route 16.

WORLD TRAVELER GRADUATES

Kristen L. Brooks graduated magna cum laude from Houghton College in Houghton, N.Y., with a B.A. in her double major of English and intercultural studies. As a sophomore Kristen participated in the Houghton-in-London program for one term. She took part in a program aimed at facilitating social peace between refugees from Turkey and Bangladesh. In her junior year she spent the spring term in Morocco, where she studied Arabic at a language institute in Fez. Active in drama, she played the role of Hermia in the Houghton College Shakespeare Players production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream." As a senior she was chosen to produce and direct that group's production of "Twelfth Night." Future plans include continuing her studies in Arabic with the Arab online University as preparation for work in the Muslim world. Kristen is the daughter of Douglas and Susan Brooks of Benton. Paternal grandparents are Don and Eleanor Brooks. Maternal grandparents are Frank and Janet Vogt.

Several ladies from Upton submitted flower arrangements at the Andover Fair. They all received ribbons for their efforts. All of the arrangements were of very high caliber.

The lake has been calm and serene for a week. Occasionally the wind picks up and cools the air. Bass fishing has been fairly good.

I recently read an article on fishing. There was a statement in this article, and I'll quote: "Give a man a fish and you feed him for a day, teach him to fish and you get rid of him for a weekend."

Eugene Wixom, on his A.T.V., distributed corn to all his needy neighbors. Bill Harris also donated corn and ripe tomatoes (from New York state, not Maine). We will not starve yet.

Joy Yarnell, who is still out of commission, has had lots of attention from her four kids. We took advantage while Joy was feeling good to round up a very serious Skat game.

Lucile Largesse is having a great Yard Sale. It will be open again on Aug. 12 and 13. She has many articles that you cannot possibly live without. A lap top computer was purchased by one lucky lady. Lucille has had many interests over the years. Quilting is her all-time favorite. There are many fabrics suitable for quilting on sale. There is also a ceramic kiln.

It has been so busy this past week. I have not had time to watch the birds. The mornings are much quieter of late. I feel that our little friends are winging south. The "Birds of the Week" are the two very social crows on Birch Point.

Congratulations to Wilma Rector and Clyde Stratton who completed the assessors course at U. Maine Orono. They both passed with flying colors.

Roger Lavallee took the time off to go fishing on Lake Champlain this past weekend. Roger takes Jennifer Loomis, photographer, to areas on the lake where loons and other wild beasts frequent. The result is the beautiful calendar for 2006 that she is now marketing. It features the loons of Lake Umbagog at their finest.

Aug. 29, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Upton Craft and Bake Sale at the Ladies Aid Building.

Waterford

by Rockie Graham

For whatever reasons my last two columns have not been printed. Here is this week's. I hope it makes it in.

One of the things not printed was a happy birthday to our granddaughter, Madison Rose Hart. She was one year old on Aug. 6. Happy Birthday, Mad-dy.

The Transfer Station committee is looking at ways to decrease the costs of running the transfer station. Fees were defeated, but we are looking at ways so that the average taxpayer is not paying for contractors to leave large loads of construction debris. Any positive suggestions would be appreciated. The average homeowner brings in a limited amount of construction debris from short projects or one every ten-year roof replacements. The contractors may bring in a load a day or more. That is what we are looking into. Ideas for handling those costs are welcome. Speak to any committee member, selectman, or to me. Our next meeting is Aug. 19 at 6:30 p.m.

On Aug. 13 at 7:30 p.m. enjoy an evening of music at the Waterford Congregational Church on Plummer Hill. All are welcome. They are asking for a $10 donation.

On Aug 11 at 7 p.m. at the Wilkins House on Plummer Hill the Waterford Historical Society will meet. They will discuss "Apples of Maine" with George Stilphen.

I don't know about anyone else, but I love the breakfast at the Wilkins House. Unfortunately, I miss most as they are on a day I leave early for work. In any case, your last chance to attend one of the summer breakfasts is on Wednesday, Aug 17. They are from 7:30 to 10 a.m. The costs are $5 for adults, $3 for ages 5-10 and free for 5 and under. It is a great breakfast with eggs, pancakes, rolls, bacon and sausage. The best deal around. Be there.

We attended the Bear Mountain Music Festival at the Bear Mountain Inn this past Sunday. We had a very enjoyable time. The music was great and the surroundings were very comfortable if a little too sunny for a while. It is nice to see live music here in our home town. The only negative I heard was about the lack of beer. Apparently, Waterford allows only hard liquor on an outdoor liquor license. What's with that? I guess that is a question for the town fathers.

Sudbury Canada Days is next weekend, Aug 12-14. Check with Bethel Historical Society for details (824 - 2908 or (800) 824-2910. Usually a good supper is part of it, but I do not have the details, yet. It is time to go out and enjoy the day before it gets too, too hot. Have a great week.

president declared the early spring rainstorm a disaster.

Milton Mills from Windsor Locks, Conn., with his two daughters, Donna and Diane, was in the area last week visiting with relatives. In Hanover they visited with Bill and Gail and David Worcester. While in the area they attended a family reunion in the Oxford Hills area.

Bill and Gail Worcester of Hanover and Daren and Fran Worcester from Hooksett, N.H., vacationed in Columbia, Maine, last week. They picked blueberries to bring home.

The Gardner Roberts Memorial Library held a meeting on Friday, Aug. 5. President Donna Worcester opened the meeting and Secretary Vickie Deluca reported on past meetings. There were several vacancies that needed to be filled. Shirley Powell became the vice president and Joan Tucker and Maura Rodman will be trustees. There is a need for three additional trustees and the association is asking for volunteers. Darlene Baker, formerly a trustee, was at the meeting and she was able to add insight into past procedures.

At the meeting the members learned that Mark Beaudoin of Brushmarx had donated the building-moving fundraiser sign that is located in front of the Town Office. They expressed appreciation for his work.

Sept. 17, Saturday, has been selected as the date for the Library Yard Sale. Donations of good used stuff are being accepted and may be dropped off at the Town Office or call to have items picked up. Also at the sale there is a plan to have a baked goods table and donations of delicious foods are being solicited. The rain date is Sunday, Sept. 18. The sale will be at the Hanover Town Office.

Thundershowers moved through the area last week. In many Hanover homes the power flickered off but in the Howard Pond area there was an early morning power failure that lasted for an extended period until Central Maine Power Company crews were able to locate the problem and fix the lines.

It won't be long now before the corner store is once more open. According to the new owners, Jennifer Vien and Fred Pierce, the last loose ends will be tied up in a week or two. The couple has been very busy cleaning, painting, and moving things in, out, and around. All of their permits are in place, and they are now waiting for the septic system to be inspected.

Although there will be a coffee counter, complete with homemade donuts and such, as well as pizza by the slice and hot dogs, there will be no seating in the store for the time being. Fred says, "This is all new to us, so there will be a lot of trial and error" for a while. The store will carry newspapers, which many folks have asked about, as well as basic groceries and other necessities. In addition, Fred and Jennifer hope to reinstate the game check-in station.

Fred worked for several years hauling fuel oil, until a back injury forced him to contemplate a career change. Jennifer worked at a weaving company for thirteen years before this new undertaking. We wish them luck in their venture and hope they'll be around for a good long while.

The Flat Road alpaca population is growing. There are now nine — count 'em — nine of the critters in residence at the farm owned by Jeff Erickson and Maureen Libby. The original three females, Nell, Pumpkin, and Androscooggin, along with babies Eureka and Sensation, are now quite settled in. They were joined a little over a week ago by Lady Luck and three males: Liam, Aladdin Gold, and Vincent. Still to come are Elaine and her son, White Heat. Maureen and Jeff hope to make an announcement soon of an open house to meet their beautiful brood.

The next church supper at the West Bethel Church will be on Saturday, Aug. 27, at 5:30 p.m. I will try to keep you informed of these events. On Friday, Aug. 12 (tomorrow!), the church will hold a yard sale from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., with Saturday, the 13th, as a rain date.

The Grange flea market continues on Fridays and Saturdays. You never know when you may find that absolutely indispensable item at an unbelievably low bargain price.

I hope that you're enjoying reading this weekly column, and that you will contact me with any news of your own that you would like to see in print. 836-3011; dhoeh@megalink.net

It is hard to believe that August is here and summer is beginning to wind down.

The days just seem to have flown by. Before you know it, school will be starting up again. The Back to School flyers have been coming in the mail.

I had a very busy week at work. Not only are we trying to get the Adult Education brochure finished and off to the printer this week, but SAD44 Adult Education Graduation was held on Thursday, Aug. 4, at Telstar High School.

There were five graduates that were able to attend out of the eleven who completed the requirements to receive their GED.

After the ceremony in the auditorium, everyone enjoyed getting together in the cafeteria for a meal, which both Adult Ed and the graduates contributed to.

This was quite an accomplishment for these students because not only did they have to come to the Learning Center to get ready for testing, they had to keep up with their regular lives.

The GED consists of five tests in different subject areas and students have to study and take practice tests before they can take the real thing. All of these students who attended are adults who are also parents and hold down a full-time job. Not an easy task to find time to come into the Learning Center, but they were determined and did it.

Well, Hugh and I celebrated our 39th wedding anniversary on Saturday, Aug. 6. Now there is another example of how time just seems to fly by. Doesn't seem possible.

My brother, Steve McLain, had a call the other evening from Earlene Clough. She and her husband, Louis, used to live next door to him. She was just checking on how everyone was doing and wanted to say hello. Since she reads this column, I hope all is well with them and hello also.

I stopped by the SAD44 maintenance garage the other morning to pick up some fresh produce that my brother had brought in from his garden. Good stuff! We do not have a space for a garden anymore so he keeps us supplied.

There has to be others in Gilead who have some news. Call me at 836-2987 or e-mail me at chapmal@hotmail.com

Albany

by Dana & Sheila Dyke
Greetings and hello from Albany Township. We're hoping for a bit of rain to help alleviate some of the heat and humidity that has been plaguing us all these past few weeks. The cooler nights have been a welcome relief.

Tonight is the supper at the Albany church. The doors open at 5 p.m., and dinner starts at 5:30. Remember, you will want to get there as early as possible for the first seating. There is usually a second seating, but, you have a much better selection at the first. It's $6 per adult, $3 per child. The next supper will be in two weeks.

The Albany Improvement Association's yard sale is this Saturday, starting at 9 a.m., at the town hall. If you have some items to donate, it's not too late — call Buzzie Lapham or Tammy Tanguay to make drop-off arrangements. If you don't have anything to donate, go on in and donate a few pennies — they'll appreciate it.

Saturday night, we attended our 20th class reunion. We saw many old friends and classmates we hadn't seen for 10 to 20 years. Some had changed a lot, others looked and acted exactly as they had when we graduated from Telstar Regional High School in June of 1985. We heard someone say to another of our classmates "you must be the successful one of the group."

That got us to thinking "what makes a success?" Certainly, many of our classmates have gone on to have successful, lucrative careers, and we are very proud of those folks for doing so. But, when we looked around the room at the faces of our former classmates, and met many of their spouses, saw the pictures of their children, heard the tales of their lives, jobs, goals and trials, we realized that every single one of those people in that room was a success.

One classmate works around books all of the time, and he's pleased to have his Buel sitting in his garage; another told of how her son had been misdiagnosed as a baby, and now she must take him for monthly treatments, and beamed as she showed us a picture of his cherubic face; yet another classmate stays home with her children, but manages to keep her hand in the artistic venue we had known her for in school, and, well, there are so many, that we could not possibly list them all here. For one, the column is not nearly large enough, another is we honestly did not get around the room well enough to get everyone's life story and such.

But, to us, the meaning of success is simple: If you can step back and look at your life, with all of the ups and downs, trials and tribulations, and see the total sum of that life, and you can say "I did okay" and maybe manage a smile, that is success. Do not get us wrong — those who have become financial or career-wise successful, hats off to you — we are proud to be able to say "we knew you when — but, every one of us of the Class of 1985 is successful.

We hope that it will not be another 10 to 20 years before we hear or see you folks again. We live in an age of technology, where e-mail is fast and efficient, and we can send you a "hi" message, "see what my kid did now," with the point and click of a mouse. What excuse can we possibly give for not doing so? (Do we really want to answer that?) How about the usual "We've been so busy"?

Yup, we all have our lives that demand our attention. But

RIVER VALLEY BASEBALL LEAGUE 2005 PINE TREE CHAMPIONS
The team from Bethel recently won the league championship. The league is made up of teams from Bethel, Rumford, Jay and other surrounding towns. Bethel was in second place in the standings at the end of the regular season. Pictured are, front (from left): Tim Remington, Terry Collins, Travis Brooks, Gavin Palmer, Chris Brooks, Kinsey Durgin. Back: Kurt Wight, Wade Osgood, Josh Ayward, Mike Swan, Kaleb Durgin.

we mustn't forget that back in the gymnasium at Telstar Regional High, one warm June 1985 evening, we all marched up to the podium, was handed a cardboard and leather-like bound booklet (blue, of course), containing a small piece of paper basically saying that we had done our 13 years of education, and that society now considered us adults, to go out in the world and make our contribution. And, from the looks of the room we were in Saturday night, we did just that.

For those of our classmates who were unable to attend, we missed you, and we missed learning how you were able to take your special uniqueness out into the world and make yourselves known.

And, one more thing — Thank you very much, Susan (Gould) Mallory for all of your hard work. If you hadn't taken the bull by the horns, so to speak, we would not have been able to see old friends Saturday night. Thank you.

God bless and keep for another week.

VCW was formed May 30, 1885 in Ohio.

As well as preservation of Civil War Monuments, historical documents, gravesites and cemeteries, the DUVCW provides many scholarships to graduating students with Civil War descendants.

tees on a local, state and national level, and has held four elected national offices prior to the President's Office. Dean served as Chair of Operation Desert Stocking I & II in 1990 and 2004.

The duties of the national president, beyond day-to-day administration, will include representing the organization at events in Gettysburg, Penn., Arlington National Cemetery and other locations in Washington DC, the United States service academies, and others, as well as visiting many of the states DUVCW department and regional meetings.

Dean will preside over the 116th National Convention in August of 2006 when it will be held in Harrisburg, Penn.

Dean attended schools in Oxford Hills and Fryeburg, graduating from Fryeburg Academy in 1975, and the University of Maine at Portland-Gorham in 1977.

FLYING FOR CHARITY—Eight Maine Powerchute Association pilots will take off from the Bethel Airport in their craft Saturday in the organization's first annual charity ride, benefiting Camp Sunshine in Casco. Their destination is Eastport, where they expect to land Aug. 20. They will make six stops along the way. The powered parachutes have a speed of about 26 miles per hour, with a range of about 50 miles. The craft generally fly between 400 and 600 feet off the ground.

Meetinghouse.

The weekend will begin with the annual Hall Memorial Lecture. This year's lecturer is Bunny McBride, author of a number of works on Indian women and an adjunct lecturer of Cultural Anthropology at Kansas State University. Her topic will be, "Molly Ockett and other Wabanaki Women Healers."

The lecture is free and open to all interested persons. It begins at 7:30 p.m. in the Dr. Moses Mason House Lecture Hall.

On Saturday, Aug. 13, a number of 18th century re-enactors are scheduled to set up in the morning and go through the day into Sunday, Aug. 14.

Among those scheduled to come are Yellow Bear: Abenaki, a full portrayal of an Abenaki warrior; Samuel Goodwin's Company; New England militia and artillery (they will do an artillery demonstration with one cannon, military drill and demonstrate camp life in that era); Cherry's Company, 2nd New Hampshire, a light infantry militia company, who will present military drills and camp life, including the lives of women and children; Royal Irish Artillery, a pre-Revolutionary War English provincial artillery, who may come with cannons. There are also several craftspeople lined up for this event as well.

Beginning at 10 a.m., the horseshoe tournament will begin. Participants are welcomed and prizes will be awarded.

At 1 p.m., the events for the afternoon will commence, including children's parade (Theme this year: "Builders of Bethel"), children's games, croquet and badminton tournaments, ice cream eating contest, art show, craft demonstrations, historical videos, farming/logging exhibit, and much more. In the evening, there will be the annual log driver's bean supper followed by music from the local banjo band and some activities by the re-enactors.

Sunday will have more activities by re-enactors and in the afternoon, an opportunity to visit the exhibits, view historical videos, tour the 1895 Sunday River Schoolhouse and end with a hymn sing at the historic Middle Intervale Meetinghouse, Bethel's earliest surviving religious structure. The Oxford County Bicentennial Quilt will also be on display throughout the weekend.

Sudbury Canada was Bethel's original name, which was officially used from the date of granting in 1768 until 1796 when it was incorporated as the town we know today. The earlier name honored the original grantees from Sudbury, Mass., who had fought unsuccessfully to conquer Canada in 1690. The Commonwealth of Massachusetts rewarded these veterans with land in the "District of Maine," naming it in honor of their Massachusetts town and the campaign in which they served. Rev. Eliphaz Chapman is generally credited with naming Bethel, which comes from the Bible, meaning "House of God."

Over 1,300 members strong, the Bethel Historical Society, founded in 1966, is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time historical agency, dedicated to collecting, preserving, and interpreting the regional past for present and future generations. For nearly forty years, the society's activities have included lectures, exhibits, special events, heritage festivals, workshops, conferences, school and educational programs, and publications. Since 1974, the society has operated from its Broad Street headquarters, the Dr. Moses Mason House, a period house museum and research library. In 1999, it opened the O'Neil Robinson House (next door at 10 Broad Street) to the public for an expanded exhibit program, museum shop space, and administrative offices.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

WHAT IS A BALLOON MORTGAGE?

In loan terminology a "balloon" is the unpaid loan balance that must be paid in full on a specified due date. Federal savings and loan associations are permitted to make balloon mortgages with as little as five percent down and monthly payments that are smaller than the amount needed to fully amortize the debt. On the due date, which may be only a few years after the loan was made, the balance must be paid off or the loan must be renegotiated. Balloon borrowers must be cautious and plan carefully to avoid overlooking balloon payment obligations. It is easy to be lulled into complacency by the easy monthly payment terms.

Today's complex economics have produced a wide variety of options for potential borrowers, who are often surprised by how much house they can afford to buy. Loan approval is ultimately in the lender's hands, but your Realtor can help you to determine your real buying power.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771

EVERETT R. EAMES

Everett R. Eames, 90, of Main Street, Errol, N.H., passed away at his home Saturday evening, Aug. 6, 2005, surrounded by his family following a courageous struggle with cancer.

He was born April 6, 1915, in Newry, son of the late Ernest and Eva (Thompson) Eames. At an early age, Mr. Eames left Newry, because of the death of his father and moved to Errol where he was raised by Ellis and Martha Lane. In 1934, he graduated from Berlin High School at the age of 19.

In 1937, he began the construction of the Eames Garage in Errol and also met his wife of 66 years, Mona (Bennett) Eames, marrying on Oct. 11, 1938.

As a result of WWII, he was forced to close his garage in 1942 due to war shortages and moved to Bath, where he worked in the Bath Ship Yard.

In 1943, he moved his family back to Errol and began working for the state of New Hampshire Highway Crew, and while employed by the state, he reopened his garage in 1944.
